Alphabet sounds chart refers to a guide for kids to learn and understand kinds of letters and how to pronounce it. We can find that there is one letter that has various pronunciations. Thus, besides providing the alphabet names, this chart also elaborates how to sound every pronunciation of a letter. To make it more fun, we can find pictures that depict each word. What are the benefits of an alphabet sounds chart? The first aspect that will be affected when using the alphabet sounds chart is oral language development. Introducing sounds before the name of letters help them to recognize alphabets faster. In addition, they will be fluent to pronounce words without any hassle. Pictures on the chart also help them to communicate better. It's because the pictures usually can be found in their nearest environment. Thus, they can relate to the lesson so they'll understand more. This also helps to improve the early stage of literacy development. Commonly, when using this chart, kids are introduced how to pronounce, identify letters, and generate words using letters on this chart. If this phase is prepared intensively, it'll be better for them to listen, speak, read, and write at an advanced level. What is the importance of learning alphabet sounds? Learning sounds eases them to pronounce and spell words correctly. This also helps them to read words that they haven't understood before. When they find new words, they try to decode the letters sounds to find what word it is. By using their knowledge of letter sounds that they have, they can associate the sound of every letter to produce full sounds of a word. For instance, when they find a tip word, they will try to sound every letter and combine those sequentially until they can speak the tip. Here are some tips to teach kids the alphabet sounds:1. Introduce letters that are commonly used in the beginning, especially used as the first letter of words. For instance, T for Table or A for Apple.2. Separate the schedule of learning of similar sounds of letters, such as d and b or n and m. This happens because they need to learn about differing sounds (or even the shapes) between both letters.3. Introduce short vowels first. Short vowels refer to one-syllable words that consist of one vowel in between. Thus, this has a short-sounding word. Short vowels are also easier to be pronounced than the other kinds.4. Teach the lowercase letter in the beginning. Lowercase letters tend to appear more on text rather than uppercase letters. I call it as mother of all Charts:). The very first chart introduced to the kids is the Alphabet Chart. So is there any better way to learn Alphabets using a colourful chart...? Charts play an important role in child's early learning process. When an information is organised, classified, sorted and presented in a desirable form to the kids, they will develop an interest towards it. This what exactly the chart does.Chart should be high visible to the child. So that they can refer and identify each items in the chart First you point and read each items in the chart. Later ask your child to repeat it as you read. Give importance to your pronunciation, ensure that you pronounce the word correctly, because your child follows you, and any wrong pronunciation at the initial stage is difficult the correct later. You can ask them to identify each item when you read. You can relate the chart items to real things. Like in this post the chart is about Alphabets, so when you use or see any item in our day to day activities like... Apples?, Ant ?for A Banana?, Ball for B Cat?. Corn? for C.... Finally a child can remember only when its repeated many times, so revise with you child as much as you can. But do it in a playful and enjoyable way. Come lets learn Alphabets with Active Ant? All the resources consistently use the same illustration and word for each letter of the alphabet. All letters, from A to Z, are covered. Suggested use: Use the cards to chant the alphabet in whole group or small groups (such as guided reading). Chant "A, a, apple, /A/ /a/, apple... B, b, bat, /B/ /b/ bat... etc. while pointing to each letter and picture. Doing this daily helps reinforce letters and sounds. The cards also can be used as a reference by students during reading & writing. Student Alphabet Chart 8.5 x 11" Reproduce this card as a writing reference for students, or for daily review. "Reading" the alphabet card is a common strategy used before conducting a guided reading group: "A, a, apple... /A/ /a/ apple, B, b, bat... /B/ /b/ bat, C, c, car... /C/ /c/ car," etc. BONUS: Smaller Student Alphabet Chart 4.25" x 5.5" (half sheet size) In using this pack in my own classroom, I saw the need for a smaller abc card for students to use during writing time. So, I created one and added it to this pack as a special bonus. I printed these sheets on tagboard, and laminated them for the students to keep at their tables. The smaller size makes it easily accessible, and leaves more work space for writing time. Small Student Alphabet Chart (PDF) Alphabet Chart Pages 8.5' x 11' pages assemble to make poster-sized chart (approximately 22' x 30') After printing the pages, trim pages to assemble a large chart. It can be used for whole group instruction like the Student Alphabet Chart is used for small group. My class chants and reads the Alphabet Chart every day. Students can take turns being the "pointer." HOW TO ASSEMBLE THE ALPHABET CHART: Arrange the pages so they resemble the Student Alphabet Card. There will be 4 rows with 2 pages in each row. The last row will have just Ww, Xx, Yy, and Zz, so the bottom half of the page will need to be cut off. After you have trimmed the pages so they line up attractively, you can mount them on poster board or some other sturdy material. Laminate for durability. In this picture, I have outlined the vowels with a red dry-erase marker. The pages were mounted on green poster board.
